Handwriting:

This week, we are continuing our focus on using the diagonal join to connect a letter to an ascending letter (ladder letter e.g. 'h'), using the same video as last week to guide you.

Today, you only need to watch the examples of using the diagonal join to connect the letters 'a' and 'l' and writing the word 'stall', practicing when the video asks you to.

The link for the video is below:

<https://youtu.be/BNCpNMqhCnM>

Before you begin practicing your handwriting, make sure you have correct body posture and have done your hand and finger warm up exercises. If you need help with this, watch the body posture and warm up sections of the first handwriting video. The link to the video is below:

<https://youtu.be/kcRHWH7rApY>

Once completed, practice using the diagonal join to join the 'a' and 'l' together in the following words:

Halve

Class (Common Exception Word)

Alert

Aloud

Medical

Challenge:

If you feel you are confident with joining the letters 'a' and 'l' and have done so clearly, try joining more letters in one of the words above.

SPAG:

Practise this week's spellings. You could use look, cover, write, check/ rainbow writing/ word pyramids/ write in a sentence.
